Servitizing city's data

Vaasa district showcase application

VAASA DISTRICT SHOWCASE APPLICATION

The need for Vaasa district showcase

The city of Vaasa does not have a simple and innovative way of welcoming new residents.

Furthermore, there doesn't exist short and to the point information of all districts' nearby services.

There is lots of good info on the Vaasa home page, but it would be better to specify all of this based on city district.

Design choices for Vaasa district showcase

Vaasa is not the most attractive city in Finland, but it has some great city districts that deserve their own showcases.

Consequently, we have broken down Vaasa into districts and servitized the districts' data.

When one moves to a city, at some point they start to feel the sense of community more towards the neighborhood.

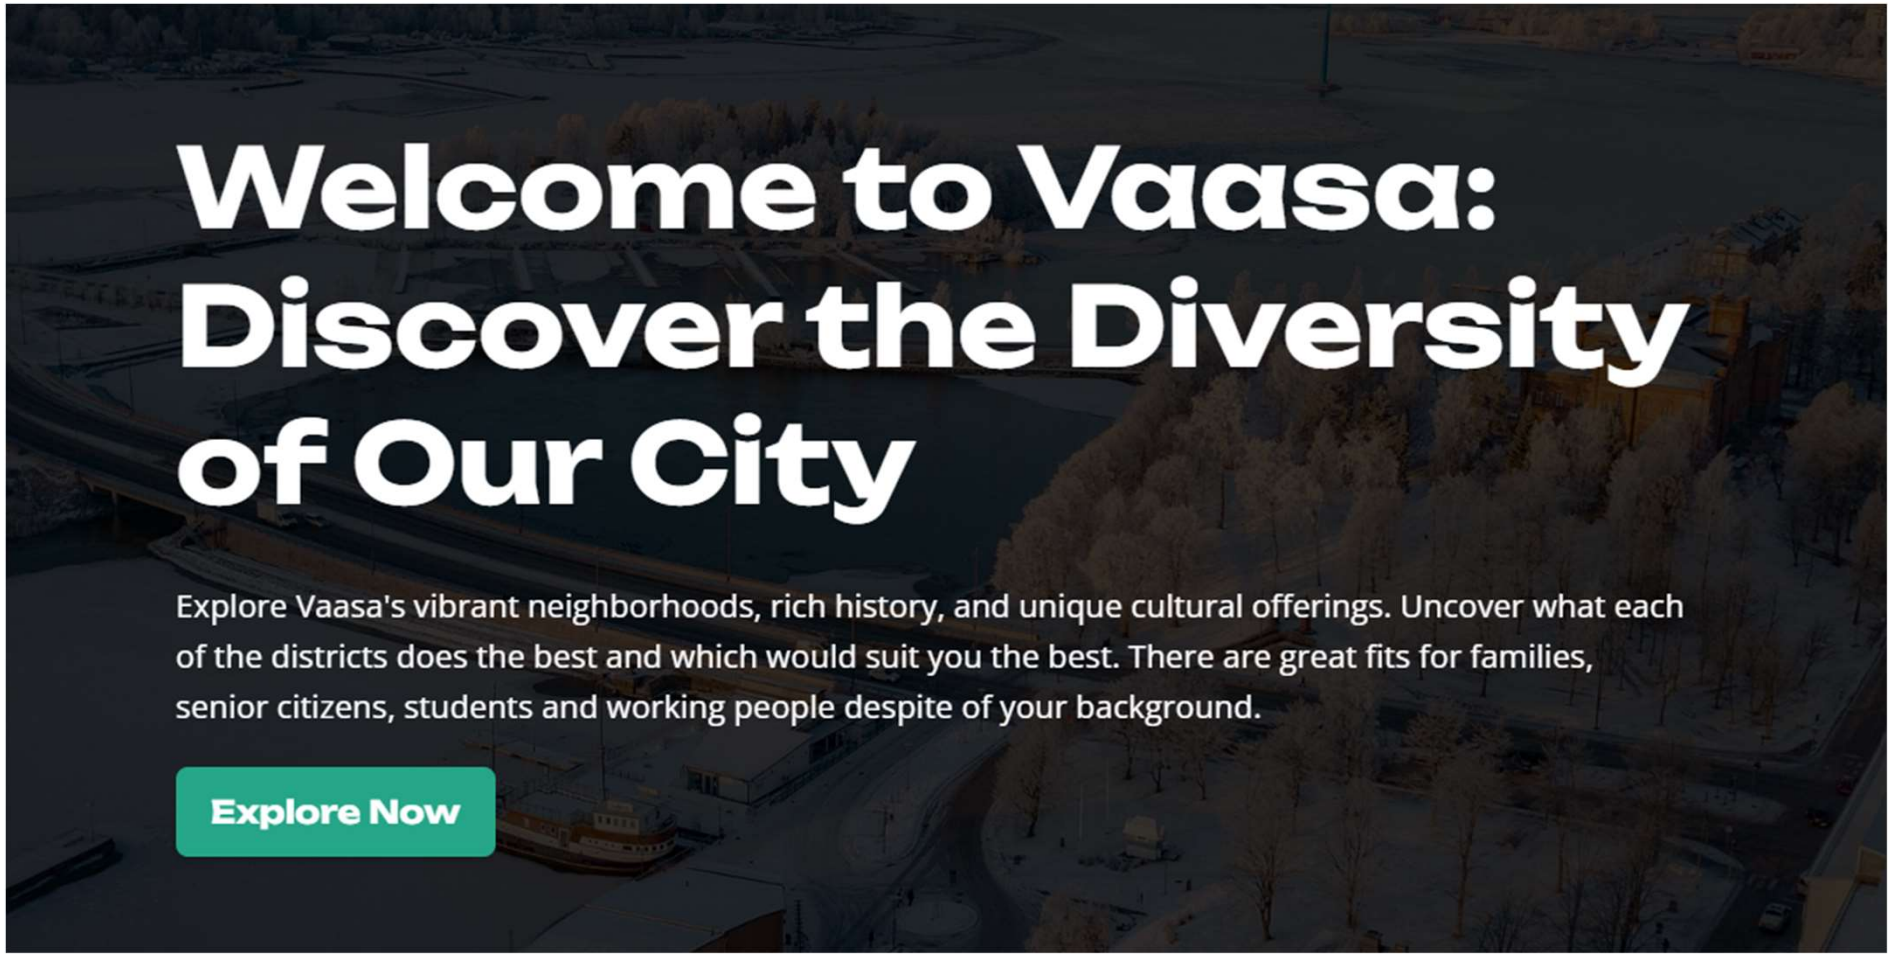

The Competition of Vaasa tutorial

Vaasa.fi provides all this information, although in a city-wide perspective. Therefore, information is not specified by city district, so that a resident can't directly see which services are the most relevant to them.

For a tourist Vaasa.fi is great, but for a person who is moving to Vaasa, more specific and district-specified information is needed. The large amount of information can be too much for some on the Vaasa.fi page.

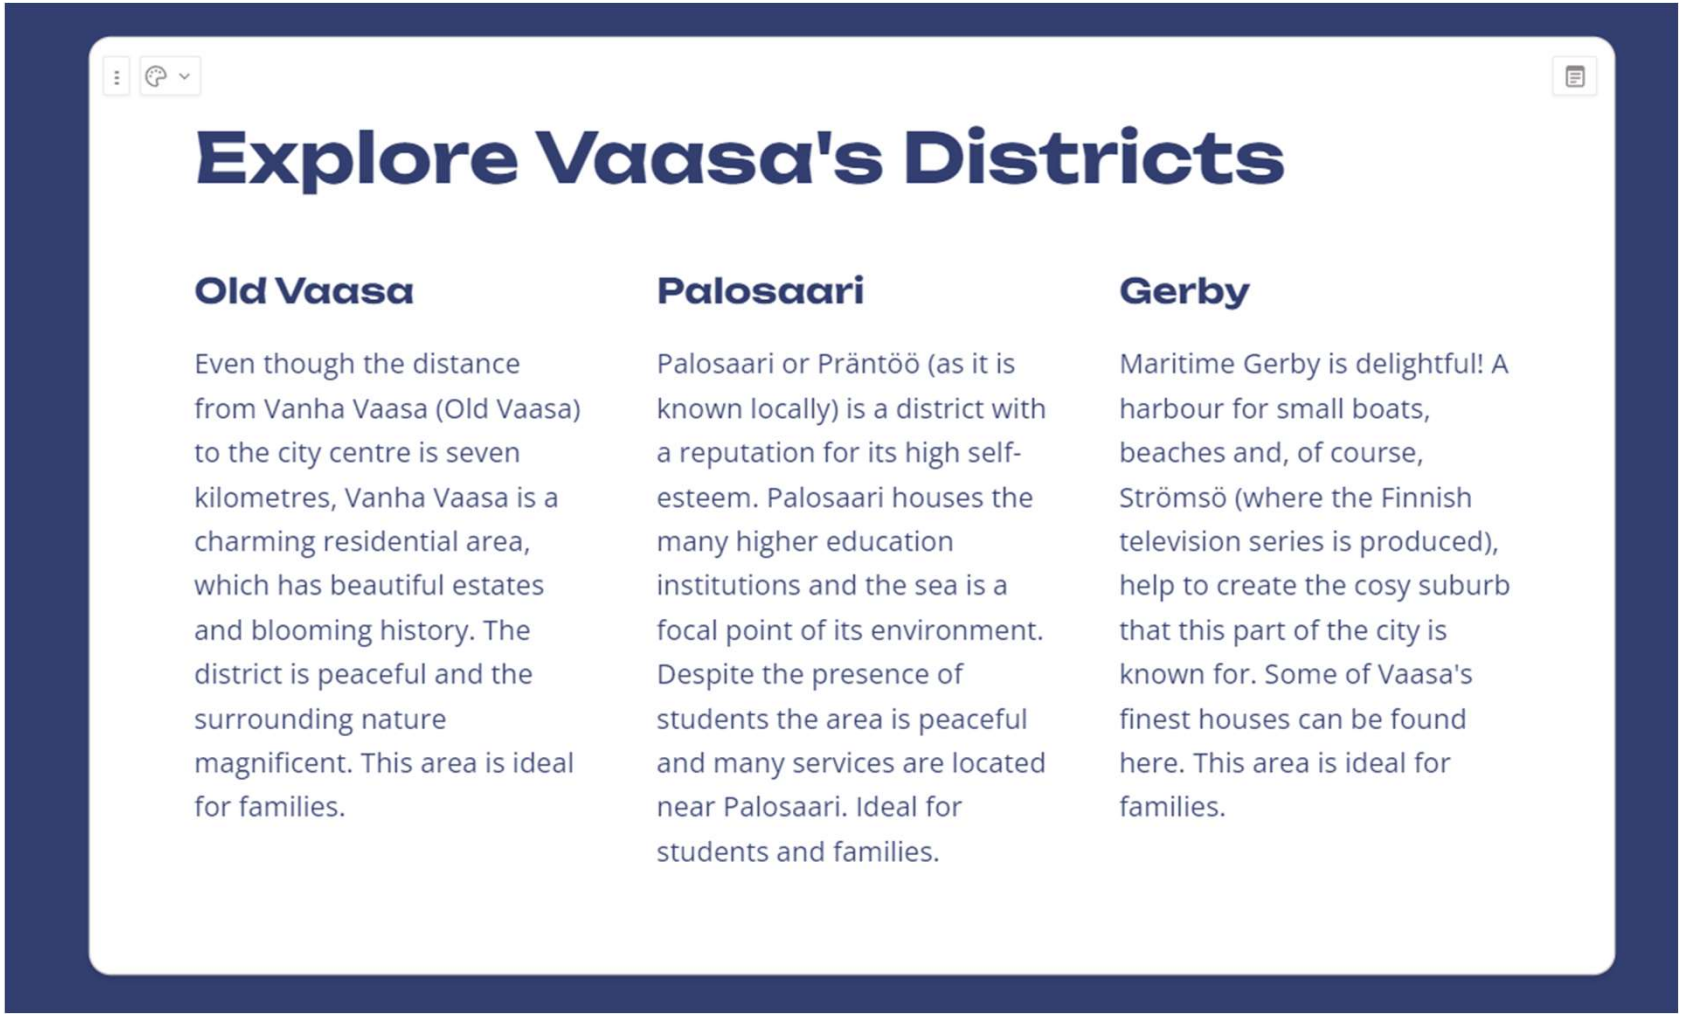

Google Maps and Apple's Maps can be also considered a competitor, but it does not provide nearly as much information as Vaasa tutorial would.

The Assumptions for Vaasa district showcase

For this application to work, the city of Vaasa must have the data of their services in a database.

There needs to be an application programming interface between various real estate agencies, rental agencies and the application, or the city needs to create their own ones.

Call for action and a thank you!
